A specialist family law service provided to clients in the West Midlands and Staffordshire covering all aspects of relationship breakdown and issues involving children. Our children law practice covers both disputes between individuals about the care and upbringing of children (private law proceedings) and cases where the local authority is taking proceedings for a care order (public law proceedings). We have particular strengths in taking urgent action on behalf of victims of domestic violence and abuse and many clients come to us on recommendation from refuges or support organisations. The head of our family law department is an accredited member of the Law Society Family Law Panel - Advanced. Legal Aid may be available
